“Maintaining Momentum”

It has been my pleasure and honor to serve as President of Southeast Missouri State University for ten years. If one theme has emerged as we look back over this first decade of the new millennium, it would be our success in making Southeast “The University of First Choice” -- First Choice for students; First Choice for faculty and staff; and, First Choice for employers who hire our graduates.

At today’s convocation, we will look back on the past ten years with the help of the “Decade in Review” video. This is not done to focus on my years as President, but rather to instill in you and every member of our faculty and staff a feeling of pride in what you and the members of the Southeast community have accomplished despite a succession of unprecedented financial challenges and other distractions. I also hope it will renew in all of us a dedication to “Maintaining Momentum” to continue as “The University of First Choice” as described in our strategic plan.

This booklet supplements the “Decade in Review” video by providing a snapshot of the achievements of the most recent of those years – 2008-2009. There is much to celebrate, including an eighth straight year of record enrollments, dedication of our new David M. Barton Agriculture Research Center, completion of a beautiful new residence hall, and the startup of a center for the diagnosis and treatment of autism, to name a few. I think you will be impressed when you read through the entire list.

Finally, we also want to use this publication to provide you with an overview of what we hope to accomplish during 2009-2010. With a flat state appropriation, zero increase in fees for Fiscal Year 2010, and state revenue less than predicted, it is clear that the financial challenges that have beset us in recent years are not yet over. There is uncertainty about when or if those challenges will end. However, the University community has overcome challenges to maintain Southeast’s momentum in the past, and I am confident the goals for the coming year outlined in this handout are doable if we approach them in the spirit of teamwork.

I hope we leave today’s convocation with a feeling of pride in what we have accomplished, and with the determination to work together to keep Southeast as “The University of First Choice.” Thank you for all you have done and continue to do for our students, our University, and our region.

Sincerely,

Kenneth W. Dobbins
President
