English Education

The College of Education, Health, and Human Studies creates a supportive climate to help all education majors meet the rigor of teacher education. Our English Education program includes 42 hours in English literature, language, and writing courses. We prepare our students to teach their content successfully. In addition, our majors must complete 41 hours in education courses including 19 credit hours in field experiences off campus at secondary schools.

Becoming Career Ready ...

/ English Education majors will have the opportunity to have three field experiences in secondary schools with mentor teachers before their last semester. These opportunities help students to become experienced, well-versed and confident educators.

/ During the last semester, the student teaching field experience lasts sixteen weeks at one school.

/ The Techniques of Teaching English course is taught by an instructor with a successful public school career.

/ Our teacher candidates are encouraged to attend professional development events including the Southeast Missouri English Teachers Association and Write To Learn Conferences, where they have met English Education experts including Kyleen Beers and Jim Burke.

/ Most of our English Education graduates are teaching in public and private secondary schools in Missouri and Illinois.

/ 100% of Southeast programs offer a real-world experience. English Education students experience this through multiple field experiences in local classrooms. In addition, there are student teaching opportunities abroad.

/ The path to a successful career starts with you! You can maximize your career development by working closely with Career Services and Southeast faculty – they are here to help you connect your passions, interests, and skills to jobs and opportunities in the field. Career Services provides professional career counseling and coaching, resume critiques, practice interviews, job search strategies, career events, networking opportunities and more.
