Psychology is the scientific study of all aspects of human behavior and mental processes. The major provides a general background in basic processes (learning and memory), cognitive processes, social psychology, developmental psychology, clinical/personality psychology and statistics and research design. Students are prepared for a variety of careers in social services, human resources, and business areas. It also provides the foundation for graduate study in specialized areas of psychology. Students may participate in psychology clubs and honor society activities, as well as conduct their own research with faculty mentors.

Become Career Ready ...

/ Students interact and learn from qualified faculty in small class settings.

/ Psychology graduates work in health, political and business settings, state and federal government, publishing and non-profit areas. Examples of job titles include psychological rehabilitation specialist, career/employment counselor, public relations representative, conservation officer, recreational therapist, probation/parole officer and child development specialist.

/ Beginning psychology majors take a course in career planning and development to help them explore potential careers and develop a strategy to pursue their desired career.

/ Majors in psychology participate in and develop psychological research.

/ Psychology graduates are excellently prepared for graduate study.

/ 100% of Southeast programs offer real-world experience. Psychology students gain this experience through participation in an annual Student Research Conference. Career-relevant internship opportunities are available for psychology students.

/ The path to a successful career starts with you! You can maximize your career development by working closely with Career Services and Southeast faculty – they are here to help you connect your passions, interests, and skills to jobs and opportunities in the field. Career Services provides professional career counseling and coaching, resume critiques, practice interviews, job search strategies, career events, networking opportunities and more.

The majority of psychology majors find employment within a year of graduation, if they choose not to pursue graduate education.
