Happy (early) Thanksgiving! With only two more weeks of classes before Finals Week, we hope you all enjoy your much needed break and spend some time at home with your families. And while you’re at it, maybe even use some of that extra time to get a jump start on studying? (No? Just us?)

Anyway, November may have been less jam-packed than the last couple months, but the Honors Council made up for it with a Murder Mystery Dinner to die for… and some special announcements. Keep reading for more information!

Coming Soon: T-Shirts!

Thanks to all of you that ordered this year’s Honors Program T-shirts! We think they look great, and we can’t wait until they come in! Stay tuned for an email from the Honors House, and we’ll let you know when to come pick them up.
Everyone’s favorite Murder Mystery extravaganza was held at the Honors House on Friday, November 10, and like always, it was a blast! The members of the Honors Council played their parts well, but the true stars of the night were our special guest actors, who each played Dr. Ludwig von Herring and Ingrid—the dinners’ attendees all voted unanimously for them as Best Actor and Best Actress, respectively. (Special Thanks to Dr. Bambi Robinson as well, who played a lovely witch’s assistant.)

The attendees themselves, of course, also did very well, with several receiving awards for their outstanding detective skills, spirit of participation, and ideas so creative that the cast hadn’t even thought of it! We hope you all had as much fun as we did, and please come again next year to another Honors-held Murder Mystery Dinner: “Thirst for Blood”
Honors Council Updates: Calling for New Council Members!

The Honors Council is inviting all members of the Honors Program that are interested to apply for two Council positions: Historian and Programming Chair. The Council’s current Historian will not be able to return to the position in Spring 2018, and we are also looking to fill our Programming Chair position for the coming spring semester. Take a look below at the tasks we require each position to perform, and let us know if you are interested!

Email the Honors House (honors@semo.edu), and tell us your name, year in school, which position you are interested in applying for, and a little about yourself. We hope to hear from you!

Historian

The Honors Executive Historian Board Member is responsible for updating one tri-fold scientific board per semester, coordinating picture taking at every event, creating the monthly newsletter, and providing back-up to the Secretary.

Programming Chair

The Honors Executive Board Programming Coordinator is responsible for creating monthly social events for the Honors Program, presenting these to the Honors Executive Board for approval, and coordinating who is in charge of programs. The Programming Board Member is also responsible for updating the Publicity Coordinator, Student and Faculty Liaison, and the Secretary with programming information one month in advance of the event.
