Relationship of the Conceptual Framework to Standards

The increasing emphasis on professional standards for educators that focus on resultant dispositions and Praxis results of program graduates has reinforced the relevance of the College's emphasis on a synergistic meld of the themes of competent, reflective, and caring as the foundation of its conceptual framework. As the lists of expected achievement indicators, competencies, and dispositions issued by government and professional groups become more extensive, only a competent professional who assiduously reflects on his/her teaching, while maintaining a caring attitude, is and/or will be capable of meeting the intent of those standards. For a unit the size of the College of Education at Southeast Missouri State University, the broad applicability of competencies, reflective learning, and caring supports its utility as a purposeful conceptual framework that all constituents apply to their work. Specific instances of how the conceptual framework influences work within programs will be found in evidence provided by the programs.

It is the collaborative belief of the faculty of the College of Education at Southeast Missouri State University and the professional community of educators who work with the College to prepare future educators at all levels that any overarching statement or theme must encompass a vision for the entire College and its constituent parts. That vision, encapsulated within a theme statement, is to prepare pre-service professionals and to encourage and support the teacher, the administrator and the counselor in their efforts to at all times be, act and believe as competent, reflective and caring professionals in their support of all learners.

Given that such a vision arises from divergent constituencies, in diverse fields within education, it is important for us to be clear on what constitutes the foundational pieces on which this vision rests. While the primary tenets of this vision are our collective belief that to be professional educators, one must be competent, reflective and caring in both the personal and professional senses, equally important are the many components that we believe are both required and evoked by those three attributes. These components are to be found in the collegially derived descriptions for teacher education, administrator education and counselor education. We have developed visions for each of these areas as separate descriptions because we felt that while intertwined in the College and in the field, each approaches the task through curricular and pedagogical means unique to that field.

The general theme of the vision, as noted above, is that each of these areas strives to nurture and prepare the pre-service candidate, and challenge and stimulate the continuing professional to be a competent, reflective and caring professional, so they can meet the needs of diverse learners. These efforts include continuous endeavors to creatively incorporate technology throughout their individual subject area fields, to promote understanding and appreciation for diversity, and to support the development of literacy skills needed in an increasingly complex society. This Conceptual Framework model, with the six centrally located terms of competent, caring, reflective, diversity, technology and literacy, provide guidance for all programs in the College of Education in a continuous effort to develop, utilize and assess proficiencies according to standards evidenced in college, state and national standards.

IV. Expectations of Students:

Students will be expected to complete the following course requirements:

- A. complete all assigned readings. The student must ask questions if s/he needs the material clarified.
- B. participate in class discussions and activities.
- C. attend all classes and to complete all assignments. An absence does not relieve the student of the responsibility to complete all assignments. If an absence is associated with a university-sanctioned activity, the instructor will provide an opportunity for an assignment make-up.
- D. check the course website at least twice a week for announcements.

Article Reviews/ 12 at 20 points each	240	WEEKLY
Active Participation / 15 weeks X 10 points	150	WEEKLY
Quizzes – 5 at 25points each	125	Periodically
Position Presentations 2@65	130
Completion Points	55
Exams – 2 @100 points each	200
	1000

- A. Forum Assignments: Respond to weekly questions/issues/dilemmas/simulations and problem-solving activities posted on the course website throughout the semester. Forum activities are designed to provide a platform for discussion. Consequently, all forum assignments require students to reply to at least one other student's entry. To fully complete forum assignments, you will need to upload your response; read at least one other student's response; and reply to at least one other student's forum entry.
- B. Assignments including classroom observations, article reviews, position presentation, case studies. Article Review notebook- read, summarize and reflect on research articles for each issue “discussed” in class. A total of 12 article reviews at the conclusion of the course. Position presentation s- choose two topics we have discussed that you feel particularly passionate about, and tell us what you think! You will create a PowerPoint presentation of at least 10 slides (no more than 12) OR an audio file of yourself stating your opinion (informed) on one of the topics (samples provided). Make it Compelling! Sell us on you view! State your beliefs strongly, using any format you want & make it dynamic and interesting! You could do it in the form of a commercial, political campaign, public service announcement, comedy routine- let your imagination run with this.
- C. Active Participation: Students will earn participation and/or activity points associated with that class period. If absent, these points are not earned.
- D. Quizzes & Exams: Students will demonstrate achievement by their performance on examinations at the conclusion of each major segment of the course and on quizzes over assigned reading material that may/may not be covered in class lecture and discussion.

IX. Graduate Grading Scale

100-90 %	=	A
89-80%	=	B
79-70%	=	C
69% and below	=	F

In addition, all graduate students will complete an additional research project and present it to the class.

The weight of the evaluation criteria may vary according to each instructor and will be communicated at the beginning of the course.

X. Academic Policy Statement:

Academic honesty is one of the most important qualities influencing the character and vitality of Southeast Missouri State University. Academic misconduct or dishonesty is inconsistent with membership in an academic community and cannot be accepted. Violations of academic honesty represent a serious breach of discipline and may be considered grounds for disciplinary action, including dismissal from the University. Academic dishonesty is defined to include those acts which would deceive, cheat, or defraud so as to promote or enhance one's scholastic record. Knowingly or actively assisting any person in the commission of an above-mentioned act is also academic dishonesty. Students are responsible for upholding the principles of academic honesty in accordance with the "University Statement of Student Rights" found in the STUDENT HANDBOOK. The University requires that all assignments submitted to faculty members by students be the work of the individual student submitting the work. An exception would be group projects assigned by the instructor. In this situation, the work must be that of the group. Academic dishonesty includes: Plagiarism and Cheating.

XI. Student with Disabilities:

Southeast Missouri State University and Disability Support Services remain committed to making every possible educational accommodation for students with disabilities. Many services and accommodations which aid a student's educational experience are available for students with various types of disabilities. It is the student's responsibility to contact Disability Support Services to become registered as a student with a disability. Accommodations are implemented on a case by case basis. For more information visit the following site: <http://www6.semo.edu/lapdss/index.htm>

XII. Civility and Harassment

The University strives to offer learning experiences and opportunities designed to help students think effectively, develop the capacity to communicate, discriminate among values, and make relevant judgments. A major determinant of a successful educational experience is a shared sense of respect among and between the students and their instructor. Mutual respect for all as well as a no tolerance policy on harassment of any kind is expected. Every student at Southeast is obligated at all times to assume responsibility for his/her actions, to respect constituted authority, to be truthful, and to respect the rights of others, as well as to respect private and public property.
