All of us make decisions daily. Most of these decisions are unimportant--what to wear, what to eat, where to go Friday night--in terms of long-term effects. Sometimes though a decision presents a real dilemma because of its possible consequences: entering the service before going to college, playing high school sports or working after school, ending a relationship.

In your essay tell about a time when you or someone you know faced such a dilemma.

Make sure you describe the dilemma and the consequences or the way in which the decision was made with specific details.

Make a good decision to my childhood

When I was 6 years old, my father told me many fantasy stories. At that time, I don’t like Garfield because he laid back and took life one day at a time. And Garfield doesn’t think about his future and doesn’t make decisions about his life. I remembered my dad told me “life is like chocolate, you never know what happened the next time so you must make decisions in to the life.” And my dad’s word is in my heart a long time.

When I started to have class, I was a student to make decisions about my class. I remembered that one day I watched TV shows that a singer was singing a song. At that time, I admired that singer can stand the stage to sing a song. At that time, I have a dream that I can be a singer. And I told my parents about my opinion that I want to learn to sing a song. My parents agreed it, and the next day they took me to a teacher's home. From that day, I began to learn singing. Because of I like it and have some talent about this, when I have learned about 6 months, my teacher wanted me to join the competition about singing. And now I can remember that my first time to stand the stage singing. Before it was turn to me, I was very scared and my feet were shocked strongly. When I stared to sing, I could be breath slowly and slowly. Then I became better and better. After I finished that competition, I have more confidence. And I got my first award. My parents were proud of me.

When I entered into high school, I chose singing as my major. At that time, I studied very hard that I became the excellent student in my school. I got up earlier than other students in order to I can practice more subjects. My parents often visited me that they could see me practice one more and one more.

Now I can enter the college because of my learning hard. I have a dream that I must make a good decision about my life that I can achieve my goal to be a famous singer. So I thank my dad told me “life is like chocolate, you never know what happened the next time, so you must make a good decision it to my life.” I always try my best to achieve it.
