We are fortunate at the time of this letter that Cape Girardeau County has no confirmed cases of COVID-19. University leaders are committed to doing what is necessary to protect the health and safety of our students, employees and the local community. Public health, which is the health of everyone on our campus, in Cape Girardeau, and in other Southeast communities, remains the highest priority and is at the forefront of all of our planning as we move through this pandemic.

With the actions and plans communicated below that impact faculty, staff and students, we remain committed to maintaining all essential campus functions to the best of our ability and look forward to returning to normal and regular operations as soon as possible.

During these fast-moving times, we encourage all employees and students to continuously monitor their Southeast email addresses and the University’s COVID-19 informational page to stay abreast of changes or announcements related to this situation.

Students – March 23-27

- All in-person classes are suspended for the week of March 23. Faculty will use this time to identify/prepare for alternative delivery of in-person courses beginning the week of March 30.
- There is no change to scheduled online courses. Classes that are already conducted online that are scheduled to resume on March 23 will continue as planned.

Students – March 30 through End of Semester

- Beginning March 30, in-person classes will be provided through alternative means (e.g. online, Zoom, etc.).
- Students should expect to be contacted by their faculty member after March 28 with details for each scheduled course.
- If you don’t have access to a computer or technology for your classes, limited facilities will be available to students. Additional information is communicated below.
- Many companies are working to provide internet and data services at a reduced cost or for free for a period of time due to this outbreak. Students that need such service are encouraged to contact internet service providers in their area to explore if these options are available. While Southeast is not endorsing any particular company, you can find more information about this at: Charter: https://bit.ly/2QmAWnV; AT&T https://soc.att.com/2UfglfJ; T-Mobile: https://t-mo.co/2we8gGH; and Sprint: https:// sprint.co/3d28b9H.

Faculty

- Faculty have been participating in training offered by the Center for Scholarship in Teaching and Learning (CSTL), Information Technology and Southeast Online to ensure a smooth transition to alternative delivery of instruction. Those training opportunities are on-going and additional resources will be continue to be shared with faculty to assist them in this transition.

- Faculty members should use the week of March 23 to transition their courses to alternative formats so they are ready when classes resume on March 30. Faculty and other instructors are encouraged to visit the Center for Scholarship in Teaching and Learning webpage, which is frequently being updated.
- We anticipate completing the semester as originally scheduled on May 15, 2020. The last day to drop a full semester class/withdraw from the University will remain April 24. If a student withdraws before that date, the student will receive a grade of W. Per Southeast policy, no refund will be available for a reduction in hours due to individual course withdrawals that occur after the initial drop/add period.

Residence Halls & Dining Services

- Effective immediately, access to all residence halls is restricted and the University will close all residence halls through a tiered process beginning Friday, March 20. The move-out process will be conducted in stages through March 31. Residents will be assigned days to move out to allow for appropriate social distancing in our buildings and to limit the number of people on campus. Residence Life staff will be contacting all students currently residing in residence halls during spring break.
- Modifed dining options will be provided and posted on the Dining Services webpage.
- Residence Life staff will communicate additional information to all students via their Southeast email, which will include information for students that may be unable to return home for extenuating circumstances, along with other detail.
- The University is evaluating its ability to offer a reduction in students’ bill because of these changes, and additional information about this possibility will be communicated to students on or before March 27.

Southeast Missouri State University continues to monitor COVID-19 and will continue to take proactive measures to mitigate the potential impact of the virus in our community. Our decisions will continue to be made with the health and safety of all of our constituents in mind and with our understanding of how COVID-19 is progressing in the United States. All faculty, staff and students are encouraged to monitor the University’s COVID-19 informational webpage as this situation continues to evolve.

As we continue to navigate these uncertain times, we would remind you that each of us has important responsibility in managing this public health crisis. To that end, we urge you to follow CDC guidelines for personal health and safety, which can be found here: https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/about/index.html.
